Law School of the University of Maryland

Is now in successful operation and making satisfactory progress towards the fulfilment of the hopes of its friends. The Third Annual Session closed on the 31st day of May, and the second commencement was held with appropriate exercises, in the presence of a large and appreciative audience, in the large hall of the Masonic Temple, on Saturday, June 15th, 1872.

The following named gentlemen having completed the prescribed course of study, satisfied, upon an exacting examination on written questions, the required standard of proficiency, and submitted satisfactory Theses on subjects assigned them, in conformity with the directions of the Charter, were duly admitted to the Degree of BACHELOR OF LAWS:

ELIJAH J. BOND, of Anne Arundel County, Md.

JOHN J. DOBLER, of Baltimore City, Md.

CHARLES A. EVANS, of Baltimore City, Md.

WILLIAM A. HINKS, of Frederick County, Md.

JOHN H. INGLIS, of Baltimore City, Md.

ALEXANDER H. ROBERTSON, of Charles County, Md.

HARRY WELLES RUSK, of Baltimore City, Md.

Ambrose L. Sappington, of Baltimore City, Md.

WILLIAM G. SCOTT, of Harford County, Md.

JOHN WILLIAM WILLSON, of Baltimore City, Md.

And an appropriate address, characterized by rare excellence of matter and felicity of style, was delivered to the graduates by S. Teackle Wallis, LL. D., which the Faculty and Graduates, with the kind permission of the gifted speaker, will have the pleasure of distributing among the friends of the Institution.

The exercises of the School will be resumed on the first Monday of October next, and continued until the 31st May following. The method of instruction pursued is by daily lectures, accompanied by the study of the text of approved authors on the subjects of lecture, with oral examinations on both. A Moot Court is held by one or other of the Professors, each week during the term, in the exercises of which the students are practised in the application of the principles and rules of law, taught them in the daily instructions of the class, and are trained for the debates of the forum.

The students attending the School will be arranged according to the proficiency of each, into two Classes—a Junior Class and a Senior Class. The subjects of instruction for each class and the text-books used, will be as follows:

Professor Inglis will lecture to the Junior Class on the Law of Domestic Relations; Corporations; Personal Property in general and Contracts: and to the Senior Class, on Commercial Law; Executors and Administrators, and Equity. The Text Books used will be Kent's Commentaries, (Lectures 26–50;) Williams on Personal Property; Smith on Contracts; Bateman's Commercial Law; Toller on Executors; Adams' Equity; Smith's Manuals of Commercial Law and of Equity; Barton's Suit in Equity.

Mr. Geo. Wm. Brown will lecture to the Junior Class on Constitutional Law and Federal Relations, and to the Senior Class on International Law, and

Mr. Arthur Geo. Brown, to the Junior Class on Admiralty Jurisdiction and Practice. Text Books—Kent's Commentaries, (Lectures 1-19;) Story on the Constitution.

Mr. Poe will lecture to the Junior Class on Pleading and Practice at Law, and to the Senior Class on Evidence at Law. Text Books—Stephen on Pleading; Evans' Practice; Greenleaf's Evidence.

Mr. Venable will lecture to the Junior Class on the law of Real Property and Leasehold Estates; Absolute Rights of Person; Crimes and Misdemeanors. Text Books—Blackstone's Commentaries, (Books 2d and 4th;) Williams on Real Property; Smith's Landlord and Tenant.

The various standard collections of Leading Cases in the various departments of Law and Equity, and the Maryland Statutes and Reports will be constantly referred to on all the subjects of instruction. The special, though not exclusive aim, will be to make each student thoroughly acquainted with the law of this State and of the United States.

Each student will be at liberty to attend the Lectures delivered to both classes, but will be examined only on the subjects of instruction proper to the class to which he belongs. Any student may, however, if he choose, pursue at the same time the studies of both classes, and so complete the entire course in one annual session of eight months.

There will be an examination on written questions upon the subjects of instruction for the term, to be answered in writing, of all the students in each class, at the end of each term of four months. The standard for admission to the Degree of Bachelor of Laws, so far as this depends on the result of these examinations, will be a uniform grade of not less than an average of 75 in 100, in all the branches of instruction examined upon, at each examination during the student's course, and no student, who does not attain this minimum grade, will be recommended for the degree. The recent legislation of this State which authorizes the Courts of the State to "admit to practice law any graduate of the law department of this University, upon the production of his diploma as Bachelor of Laws, without further examination or evidence of his qualification," throws upon those who confer the degree the responsibility of impliedly certifying thereby to the "probity and general good character" of the recipient. The habitual exhibition of these qualifications will therefore be also essential to a recommendation for the degree.

Seven Courts in daily session in the city, embracing the administration of law and equity in the Federal and State jurisdictions, offer to the students attending this School abundant opportunity and unusual advantages in acquiring a practical knowledge of their profession, and care is taken so to regulate the hours of instruction in the class-room as Several of the resident members of the Bar with large practice have generously offered the facilities which their offices and private libraries supply, without charge, to the students, and the large, valuable and constantly increasing Library of "The Bar Association" is opened to their use. The peculiar advantages of a thorough and systematic instruction in the abstract principles and formal rules of the law, of the constant observation of the practical application of those principles and rules to the exigencies of actual life, and of personal exercise in the use and handling of them, are thus combined here to a degree that is possible only amid the ceaseless activities and as ceaseless litigations of a large commercial city.

There is no city or section of the United States which gathers into itself all the elements of a desirable residence to a larger extent than Baltimore does; and young gentlemen from the counties will find it eminently pleasant and profitable to spend the months of their professional education in this city.

FEES.

The annual session of eight months, from the 1st October to the 31st May, is divided into two terms of four months each; and the charge for instruction is twenty-five dollars for the ticket of each of the two Departments for each term, or one hundred dollars for the two tickets for the whole annual session, embracing the two terms. The ticket of either Department can be taken alone, but it is a great disadvantage not to attend the whole course.

BOARD can be had in the city at prices varying from $4 to $10 per week.

For further information, and for tickets of both or either Department, application may be made to

Prof. JOHN A. INGLIS,

No. 38 St. Paul street, Baltimore.
