The address to the Graduating Class, distinguished for its discriminating appreciation of the value of their professional studies and pursuits and for its felicitous manner of illustrating this, was delivered by Rev. John N. Galleher, Rector of Memorial Church, himself, for some years a practicing lawyer, and has been, with the kind permission of the speaker, published by the Faculty of Law for distribution among the friends and patrons of the School.

The exercises of the School will be resumed on the first Monday of October next, and continued until the 31st May following. The method of instruction pursued is by daily lectures, accompanied by the study of the text of approved authors on the subjects of lecture, with oral examinations on both. A MOOT COURT is held by one or other of the Professors, each week during the term, in the exercises of which the students are practised in the application of the principles and rules of law, taught them in the daily instructions of the class, and are trained for the debates of the forum.

The students attending the School will be arranged according to their proficiency, into two Classes—a Junior Class and a Senior Class: but each student will be at liberty to attend all the Lectures delivered in the School for which ever of the two classes these may be specially designed. Those, who, upon their first admission to this School, desire to enter the Senior Class, will be required to attend also regularly during the session upon the instructions given to the Junior Class, and to pass the examinations, oral and written, to which the latter class will be subject. The subjects of instruction for each class and the text-books used, will be as follows:

PROFESSOR INGLIS will lecture to the Junior Class on the Law of Domestic Relations; Corporations; Personal Property in general and Contracts: and to the Senior Class, on Commercial Law; Executors and Administrators, and Equity. The TEXT BOOKS used will be Kent's Commentaries, Williams on Personal Property; Smith on Contracts; Smith's Mercantile Law; Adam's Equity; Smith's Manuals of Common Law and of Equity; Barton's Suit in Equity.

PROFESSOR POE will lecture to the Junior Class on Pleading and Practice at Law, and to the Senior Class on Evidence and International Law. TEXT BOOKS—Stephen on Pleading; Evans' Practice; Greenleaf's Evidence; Kent's Commentaries.

PROFESSOR VENABLE will lecture to the Junior Class on the law of Real Property and Leasehold Estates; Absolute Rights of Person; Crimes and Misdemeanors, and to the Senior Class on Constitutional Law and Federal Statute Law. TEXT BOOKS—Blackstone's Commentaries; Williams on Real Property.

The various standard collections of LEADING CASES in the several departments of Law and Equity, and the Maryland Statutes and Reports will be constantly referred to on all the subjects of instruction. The special, though not exclusive aim, will be to make each student thoroughly acquainted with the law of this State and of the United States.

There will be an examination on written questions upon the subjects of instruction for the term, to be answered in writing, of all the students in each class, at the end of each term of four months. The standard for admission to the Degree of Bachelor of Laws, so far as this depends on the result of these examinations, will be an average grade of not less than 75 in 100, in all the branches of instruction examined upon, during the student's course, and no student, who does not attain this minimum grade, will be recommended for the degree. The recent legislation of this State which authorizes the Courts of the State to "admit to practice law any graduate of the law department of this University, upon the production of his diploma as Bachelor of Laws, without further examination or evidence of his qualification," throws upon those who confer the degree the responsibility of impliedly certifying thereby to the "probity and general good character" of the recipient. The habitual exhibition of these qualifications will therefore be also essential to a recommendation for the degree.

Seven Courts in daily session in the city, embracing the administration of law and equity in the Federal and State jurisdictions, offer to the students attending this School abundant opportunity and unusual advantages in acquiring a practical knowledge of their profession, and care is taken so to regulate the hours of instruction in the class-room as not to interfere with their full enjoyment of these privileges. Several of the resident members of the Bar with large practice have generously offered the facilities which their offices and private libraries supply, without charge, to the students, and the large, valuable and constantly increasing Library of "THE BAR ASSOCIATION" is opened to their use. The peculiar advantages of a thorough and systematic instruction in the abstract principles and formal rules of the law, of the constant observation of the practical application of those principles and rules to the exigencies of actual life, and of personal exercise in the use and handling of them, are thus combined here to a degree that is possible only amid the ceaseless activities and as ceaseless litigations of a large commercial city.

There is no city or section of the United States which gathers into itself all the elements of a desirable residence to a larger extent than Baltimore does; and young gentlemen from the counties will find it eminently pleasant and profitable to spend the months of their professional education in this city.

F E E S.

The annual session of eight months, from the 1st October to the 31st May, is divided into two terms of four months each; and the charge for instruction is fifty dollars, payable strictly in advance, for each term, or one hundred dollars for the whole annual session, embracing the two terms. Special arrangements may be made by members of the bar and others for attending on any particular part or branch of instruction, at proportionate rates of charge. Graduates of the School, who have taken the entire course therein, are at liberty to attend without charge, upon the instructions of the School during the year next succeeding graduation.

BOARD can be had in the city at prices varying from $4 to $10 per week.

For further information, and for tickets of admission to the School, application may be made to
