Method of Instruction.

Instruction will be given by lectures, reading and catechising. The lectures are intended to present all of the leading principles of the common law applicable to the subject, and the modifications of the common law by statutes, and to give illustrations of the applications of the common and statute law. Special attention is given to the statutes in force in Maryland, and to peculiarities of the law in that State, where there are such; but the reasons for these statutory modifications and local peculiarities are explained, so that the student may in a short time acquaint himself with the local peculiarities of the law in any State in which he may practice.

Readings from text books will be assigned on the subjects treated of in the lectures.

The catechising at each lecture will be on the subjects discussed in the preceding lecture and on the assigned readings.

Classes and Examinations for Admission.

The students attending the School are divided into two classes—a Senior Class and a Junior Class. The subjects of study in each class are:

SENIOR CLASS.

First Term (Oct. to Feb.): Mercantile Law, including Insurance and Admiralty Law, Evidence, International Law, and Torts.

Second Term (Feb. to June): Constitutional Law, Crimes, Wills, Executors and Administrators, Equity Jurisprudence, and Pleading and Practice in Equity.

JUNIOR CLASS.

First Term (Oct. to Feb.): Pleading and Practice at Law and in Admiralty, and the Law of Contracts.

Second Term (Feb. to June): Real Property and Leasehold Estates, Domestic Relations, Corporations, and Personal Property.

All students who have attended the lectures to the Junior Class will be admitted to the Senior Class. Students who have not attended the Junior Class will be admitted to the Senior Class only on examination. Such examination will be as rigorous as those given to the Junior Class, and the applicant must attain a grade of 75 out of 100 in order to be admitted to the Senior Class. But this examination will be of a more general character than those given in the regular course, and the candidate will not be questioned on local law. A thorough reading of Blackstone's or Kent's Commentaries is recommended as a preparation. The Faculty are satisfied that students who have not made considerable progress in the law do themselves and the Law School an injury by entering the Senior Class and attempting to graduate in one year.

Examinations, Theses and Degrees.

The Law School confers the degree of Bachelor of Law on students who have attended the course of lectures to both classes, have attained the required standard at the examinations, and have submitted to the Faculty satisfactory theses.

There are four examinations each session—two of the Senior Class and two of the Junior Class. The examinations are by printed questions, to be answered in writing. Each examination is valued at 100, and the questions propounded by each professor in all the examinations are valued at 100. In order to graduate, the student must attain a grade of at least three-fourths on the questions propounded by each professor at each examination.

The subjects for the theses for the next session will be given to the students in November, 1882, and they will be expected to hand them in to the Faculty by April 1, 1883. The attention of the students is called to the fact that the Faculty will require a high standard of excellence in the theses. The Faculty reserve to themselves the right to refuse a degree to any student writing an unsatisfactory thesis, whatever grade he may have attained at the examinations.

Moot Court.

The Moot Court will meet at 12 M. every Saturday during the session, and will be presided over by one of the Professors.

At the beginning of the session a pamphlet will be placed in the hands of each of the students, containing statements of the cases to be argued before the Moot Court during the entire session of eight months; and students will be assigned to argue cases several months before the argument, when that is practicable.

Prizes.

The Faculty will, at the close of the Session 1882-3, award two prizes—

1. A prize of $100 to the student attaining the highest grade in the four examinations.

At the close of the session 1881-2 this prize was awarded to Martin Lehmayr, of Baltimore City.

2. A prize of $100 to the student who submits the best thesis.

At the close of the session 1881-2 this prize was awarded to W. George Weld, of Baltimore City, by a committee consisting of Messrs. Charles E. Phelps, Bradley T. Johnson and Thomas W. Hall, of the Baltimore Bar.

Privileges, Courts, &c.

Any student entered in only one class has the privilege, if he sees fit, to be present at the lectures in the other class; and any graduate of the School has the privilege of attending all the lectures for the session next ensuing his graduation.

There are seven Courts in almost continuous session in Baltimore during the entire scholastic year; and students have unusual opportunities to learn the law by attendance on the Courts. Students are advised to attend the Courts when they can conveniently do so, and to give careful attention and thought to the proceedings.

There is a Literary Society attached to the School, known as the Inglis Society, which is organized and conducted entirely by the students.

It has been the practice heretofore for students to form Quiz Clubs, composed of from five to ten members. They can, if properly conducted, be made very improving; and students are advised to form them.

Commencement.

The Annual Commencement for the session 1881-2 took place in the Baltimore Academy of Music at 8 P. M., May 26, 1882. There were two orations—one by Wm. Cabell Bruce, of Virginia, who was selected by the Faculty, and one by W. L. Marbury, of Maryland, who was selected by the Class of 1882. Mr. S. Teackle Wallis, the Provost, delivered an address, and conferred the degrees on the graduating class. He also conferred prizes on Martin Lehmayr, of Baltimore, for attaining the highest grade in the four examinations; and on W. George Weld, of Baltimore, for submitting the best thesis.

At the next commencement orations will be delivered by two members of the class, one selected by the Faculty and one by the Class; degrees will be conferred on the graduates, and the prizes on those to whom they are awarded.

Fees and Expenses.

The charge for instruction is fifty dollars for each term of four months, payable strictly in advance, or one hundred dollars for the whole session of eight months.

There will be an additional charge of ten dollars to each graduate as a diploma fee.

Special arrangements may be made by members of the bar or others for attending any particular part or branch of instruction, at rates of charge in proportion to the above.

Board can be had in the city at prices varying from $4 to $10 per week.

For further information, and for tickets of admission to the School, application may be made to

PROF. JOHN P. POE,
