Method of Instruction.

Instruction will be given by lectures, reading and catechising. The lectures are intended to present all of the leading principles of the common law applicable to the subject, and the modifications of the common law by statutes, and to give illustrations of the applications of the common and statute law. Special attention is given to the statutes in force in Maryland, and to peculiarities of law in that State, where there are such; but the reasons for these statutory modifications and local peculiarities are explained, so that the student may in a short time acquaint himself with the local peculiarities of the law in any State in which he may practice.

Readings from text-books will be assigned on the subjects treated of in the lectures.

The catechising at each lecture will be on the subjects discussed in the preceding lecture and on the assigned readings.

Classes and Examinations for Admission.

The students attending the School are divided into three classes—a Senior Class, an Intermediate Class, and a Junior Class. The subjects of study in each class are:

JUNIOR CLASS.

First Term (Oct. to Feb.): Common Law (Elementary Law), Personal Property, and Domestic Relations.

Second Term (Feb. to June): Real Property, and the Law of Contracts.

INTERMEDIATE CLASS.

First Term (Oct. to Feb.): Pleading, Torts, Executors and Administrators, and Corporations.

Second Term (Feb. to June): Real Property (Title), Commercial Law and Admiralty, and Criminal Law.

SENIOR CLASS.

First Term (Oct. to Feb.): Practice, Evidence, and Equity Jurisprudence.

Second Term (Feb. to June): Pleading and Practice in Equity, Constitutional and Statute, and International Law.

Admission to the higher (Intermediate and Senior) classes will be on examination held at the commencement of session in October. The applicant must attain a grade of 75 out of 100.

A thorough reading of Blackstone's or Kent's Commentaries is recommended as a preparation for those desiring to enter the Intermediate Class. Those desiring to enter the Senior Class are recommended to read Williams on Real Property, Williams on Personal Property, Smith on Contracts, Stephen on Pleading, Smith's Mercantile Law and Harris' Criminal Law, in addition to Blackstone or Kent.

Students entering the higher classes will be required to pass the examinations in the lower classes at the close of the terms, as no diploma will be given except to persons who have attained a satisfactory standard in all of the examinations.

The Faculty are satisfied that students who have not made considerable progress in the study of law do themselves and the Law School an injury by entering the upper classes. Where students can afford it, they should spend three years in the study of law. But in order to meet the case of those who cannot afford this, admission to the higher classes is permitted on examination.

Students who have passed the Junior examinations may be admitted to the Senior Class on standing the admission examination for that class.

The course of study having been enlarged from a two year to a three year course since last session (1882-3), students who have passed the Junior examinations satisfactorily in that class, will be at liberty to take both the Intermediate and Senior classes next year (1883-4) without further examination.

Examinations, Theses and Degrees.

The Law School confers the degree of Bachelor of Law on students who have attended the course of lectures to all three classes, have attained the required standard at the examinations, and have submitted to the Faculty satisfactory theses.

There are six examinations each session—two of the Senior Class, two of the Intermediate Class, and two of the Junior Class. Each class has an examination at the close of each term. The examinations are by printed questions, to be answered in writing. Each examination is valued at 100. In order to graduate, the student must attain a grade of at least three-fourths on the questions propounded by each professor at each examination.

The subjects for the theses for the next session will be given to the students in November, 1883, and they will be expected to hand them into the Faculty by April 1, 1884. The attention of the student is called to the fact that the Faculty will require a high standard of excellence in the theses. The Faculty reserve to themselves the right to refuse a degree to any student writing an unsatisfactory thesis, whatever grade he may have attained at the examinations.

Moot Court.

The Moot Court will meet once a week during the session, and will be presided over by one of the Professors.

At the beginning of the session a pamphlet will be placed in the hands of each of the students, containing statements of the cases to be argued before the Moot Court during the entire session of eight months; and students will be assigned to argue cases several months before the argument, when that is practicable.

Prizes.

The Faculty will, at the close of the Session 1883-4, award two prizes—

1. A prize of $100 to the student attaining the highest grade in the four examinations.

At the close of the session 1882-3 this prize was awarded to Joseph C. France, of Baltimore City.

2. A prize of $100 to the student who submits the best thesis.

At the close of the session 1882-3 this prize was awarded to Richard E. Byrd, of Winchester, Va., by a committee consisting of Judge Edward Duffy and Messrs. J. Upshur Dennis and Thomas S. Baer, of the Baltimore Bar.

Calendar for Session 1883-4.

SESSION AND TERMS.

The next Session commences on the first Monday of October (Oct. 1), 1883, and closes on May 31, 1884. There will be a short vacation from December 23, 1883, to January 2, 1884, inclusive.

The session is divided into two terms. The first term extends from the beginning of the Session to January 31, 1884; and the second term from February 1, 1884, to May 31, 1884.

COMMENCEMENT.

The commencement will be held May 30, 1884, at 8 P. M.

Privileges, Courts, &c.

Any Student entered in one or two classes has the privilege, if he sees fit, to be present at the lectures in the other class or classes; and any graduate of the School has the privilege of attending all the lectures for the session next ensuing his graduation.

There are seven Courts in almost continuous session in Baltimore during the entire scholastic year; and students have unusual opportunities to learn the law by attendance on the Courts. Students are advised to attend the Courts when they can conveniently do so, and to give careful attention and thought to the proceedings.

There is a Literary Society attached to the School, known as the Inglis Society, which is organized and conducted entirely by the students.

It has been the practice heretofore for students to form Quiz Clubs, composed of from five to ten members. They can, if properly conducted, be made very improving; and students are advised to form them.

Commencement.

The Annual Commencement for the session 1882-3 took place in the Baltimore Academy of Music at 8 P. M., May 28, 1883. There were two orations—one by Henry F. Greene, of Baltimore, who was selected by the Faculty, and one by Frank Loney, of Baltimore, who was selected by the Class of 1883. Mr. S. Teackle Wallis, the Provost, delivered an address, and conferred the degrees on the graduating Class. He also conferred prizes on Joseph C. France, of Baltimore, for attaining the highest grade in the four examinations; and on Richard E. Byrd, of Virginia, for submitting the best thesis.

At the next commencement orations will be delivered by two members of the class, one selected by the Faculty and one by the Class; degrees will be conferred on the graduates, and the prizes on those to whom they are awarded.

The fees for each term are payable strictly in advance at the commencement of each term.
